

A refutation should push the search further away.
Instead it moves less than a confirmation does.

The wrong ending sits as close to the right story
as any ordinary step of the same game.

the story that scored 1.00
→ the story it ended with

any two moments
of the same game

two unrelated puzzles
(a far-apart baseline)

